IMOBX

Families would rent toward owning their home.

IMOBX is preparing a first rent-to-own housing project in Rio.

01 Local construction and clear family agreements.

02 Residents help shape shared spaces and decisions.

03 Current stage: planning, documents and design.

IMOBX

Start with what a family needs.

The first project would help displaced families and people unable to use ordinary housing finance.

01 Agree who can join and what payments are affordable.

02 Explain repairs, payments and the path to buying the home.

03 Make help and complaints easy to access.

IMOBX

Rafael has supplied a building budget.

His US$27,777 per-home plan uses CUB and SINAPI, Brazilian building-cost references.

01 Land US$5,550 · construction US$18,600 · solar US$1,500.

02 Shared works US$1,500 · design and legal work US$627.

03 The village plan assumes at least 36 homes built together.

IMOBX

Part of each payment would go towards buying the home.

The household could see what it has paid towards the purchase and how much remains.

01 The agreement sets the price and how much of each payment goes towards buying.

02 The household can follow the amount paid and the remaining price.

03 The whole home transfers to the household once the purchase terms are met.

IMOBX

Show where each payment goes.

Keep rent, donations, grants, service income and trading fees separately identified.

01 Pay taxes, repairs and agreed running costs.

02 Keep money for empty homes and commitments to families.

03 Fund more homes; consider any permitted investor payments afterward.

IMOBX

Pay today’s bills. Plan the next homes.

Running the existing homes and building more need separate budgets.

01 Check the budget with little or no trading income.

02 Rent ends when the family becomes the home’s owner.

03 Show how continuing income and new building funds will be found.

IMOBX

Residents would decide how shared spaces are used.

Courtyard use, study-room hours, repair priorities and representatives are resident matters.

01 One vote per member is an option under discussion.

02 No investment purchase or promotional work would be required for a voice.

03 Investor rights and each household’s contract have their own terms.

IMOBX

From a request to checked work.

Agreed roles, spending limits and shared records keep everyday work moving.

01 A resident raises an issue; a responsible person takes it forward.

02 Someone else checks the work, payment and receipt.

03 Open tasks and approvals are ready for whoever takes over.

IMOBX

A possible token could fund operations and outreach.

In a direct issue, buyers would pay the issuing organization; their rights are still undecided.

01 A later resale normally pays the seller; any project fee is separate.

02 Paid outreach needs a funded brief, accepted work and disclosure.

03 No dividend, discount or token voting model has been selected.

IMOBX

Each stage needs evidence before it advances.

The roadmap names proposed roles and conditions for proceeding.

01 Property rights, household terms and budgets underpin the first homes.

02 Digital payment trials and token research can progress alongside them.

03 Expansion follows operating results and funding for existing commitments.

IMOBX

Measure homes and promises kept.

Follow actual costs, accounts and families' experience.

01 Check completed work, final cost and delays.

02 Match every receipt and payment; report repairs and unresolved issues.

03 Show participation and progress toward owning the home.

IMOBX

One property can become a project to assess.

An owner, building team, local organization and funder could develop a costed proposal together.

01 Owners: property, condition and donation, sale or lease terms.

02 Builders and funders: costed work, funding purpose and commitments.

03 Households: affordable terms, location, repairs and resident decisions.
